

Exalto® marine toilets

the most comfortable choice

General description

The Exalto Mariner toilets have elegant porcelain bowls and very quiet macerator pumps inside. Easy to operate control panel (with incorporated flushing programs). Extremely quiet operation and low power consumption. Eco flush / full flush option (choice of quantity of water used, to flush the toilet). Universal design (can be installed above or below the water line). Built-in emergency control (to empty the toilet without allowing water into the bowl first). Reverse rotation button (to reverse the rotation of the pump, in case pump is blocked). The toilets have an elegant white porcelain bowl with white painted wooden seat and cover.

Operation

The elegant toilets are universal; this means that they can be fitted both above and below the water line. The toilets need pressurized water to flush; this can be drinking water or seawater. A built-in solenoid valve to control the supply of flushing water is fitted as standard. The toilets are operated by means of the control panel supplied.

The Eco flush / full flush option offers the choice to flush the toilet with 1.3 or with 2 ltrs of water. The built-in macerator pump is equipped with a reverse rotation button so that blockage of the pump can quickly and easily be solved. The built-in emergency control allows the toilet to be emptied without water being pumped in first. The toilets are very quiet; with full operation the noise produced is less than 60dB.
